II. There will be a total eclipse of the Sun August 7th, in the afternoon, at the time of new Moon. This eclipse will not be visible in the United States, except a very small portion in Louisiana and Texas. A partial eclipse will be visible in Oregon, California, Mexico, and the northern part of South America. The total eclipse will be visible through nearly the whole width of the Pacific Ocean.

MOSE KEYSER, the pet of Centre Market and the Bowery bully—every body knows Mose; and them that dont know Mose, dont know any body, as is any body; a spree wouldn't be a spree if Mose wasn't thar, at a fire or a Vauxhall Ball, our hero is equally at home, and wo to the green horn that attempts to make a muss when he is about; he walks into a row like a pile of brick, unlike General Taylor, he always has a friend to reward and an enemy to punish, and is always to be found by either—well, now Mose as I was saying, goes up to the hub fer the New York Sun, because the said Sun did say that the Smoke and Thunder Guards was the best drilled fire company in our diggins, so in course Mose reads the Sun, and reading the Sun got the Californy fever; he know'd the Gold was thar, cause it was in the Sun, and being in the Sun was O. K. So he read and re-read the correspondence in the Sun, until he heard the Hall Bell ring for fire.

FANCY SKETCH OF CALIPH-HORNY!

After running two miles wid der machine finds it's a false alarm—consoles himself with two stews and a Welch Rarebit at Perkins', tops off with a brandy smash, turns in at the bunk-room, and dreams of mountains of gold, diamonds the size of a hunk of chalk, and being made Chief Engineer.

MOSE'S FAREWELL.

TUNE—"OH SUSANNAH."

I've put from New York city,
With my wash bowl on my knee,
And I'm going to California
The gold dust for to see;
It rained all night the day I left
But I was gallus dry,
So I did put the party through,
But Syksey don't you cry.
Oh California I'm told
Is just the land for me,
I'm going there for lumps of gold,
With my wash bowl on my knee.

I jumped on board the Apollo ship
And quicker we went to sea,
And every time I thought of home,
Oh! I wished it was nt me.
The Vessel reared like an old Horse,
It did like any darn'd elf,

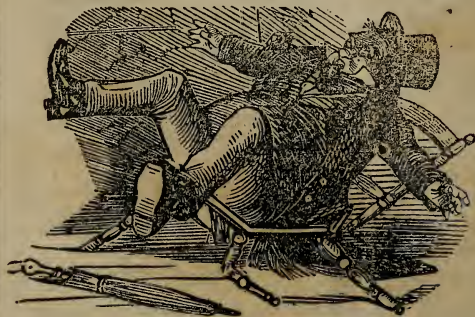

I found out it could'nt throw me,
But soon I had to throw myself.
Oh California.

I thought of all the rowdy times
We'd spree'd together here,
So I tried to cry a bit,
But could'nt raise a tear.
The Pilot bread was in my mouth,
And Brandy smashes in my eye,
And though I'm going far away
Oh Syksey don't you cry.
Oh California.

I soon shall be in San Francisco,
And then I'll look all round,
And when I see the gold lumps there
I'll pick them off the ground.
I'll rake the mountains down my boys
I'll drain the rivers dry,
A pocket full of rocks bring home,
So Syksey! don't you cry.
Oh California.

There's lots of Gold in Kaliforny no mistake in that, but then you see it takes lots of gold to get over to sun-set; now Mose had been to the races about that time, and the honest covey as did the little joker in the thimble-rig line, had eased Mose of his last dime, so the next morn'g after taking his bitters, a brandy smash and a cobbler by way of an eye-opener, Mose queries with himself respecting the tin—no bladders on hand and nothing to put up the spout; so without any qualms, he calls on his rich uncle, the Boss of the melting association, and in a few words tells the Old Fogey

Chairing a Member of the California Congress.

how the matters stand, repeats the glowing description's of the gold diggens a-la-the Sun; know'd nuncle was an out and outer, would'n't a come to him else, and if he know'd nuncle, why nuncle know'd him could lick any man of his weight and size in Centre Market. Tom Hyer was some, but he could'n't walk his chalks with a chap of his figure, but to come to the pint, all he wanted was a cool hundred or so. Yes he did.

Nuncle's literary knowledge had never extended to the classical expression of the indignant landlady—when she exclaimed “no you don't, Mr. Ferguson, you can't come in” but a sort of a—Don't you wish you may get it? is very plainly expressed on the old gent's brow, and a sort of an “If-you-get-it-before-I-do-let-me-know-it,” glance from his eyes; the Uncle was decidedly in an unamiable mood, for you see the Old Fufu having just received intelligence of a protested Note, and not being in a very hand over the needful humor, shows his hopeful nephew the door the carpenter made, same time giving him permission to go to the hottest place on record. Mose puts with a threat of lamming the old covey, and doing nothing else.

I always likes to save trouble! Boots for the Boss, and Coffee for the Mistress; easy done once as twice going up stairs.

If any you gentlemen have been long enough on Blackwells Island to have learnt Geology, I'll thank him to pint out the softest stone, for I'm rather particular about taking a soft seat.

what will a blasted big pile come to?" Ans.—To New York quicker!

WHILST tossing up whether to set fire to his uncle's slaughter-house, or to lame his fast horse, he receives a note from his Auntie inclosing $200 with a request that he will put off quicker, for fear the old man might get wind of the money, and smoke where it come from. Mose allows the old woman to be a good un to go, if she is a rum to look at, blasts his eyes for luck, and tries his hand, no I mistake his feet, in a game of double shuffle, and finishes by trying to calculate the proposition of "if an ounce of gold is worth $17,

All the Volunteers of the machine Mose belongs to, volunteer to look a Ship for him, and by their united efforts, and any quantity of drinks, they cant decide on which is the best vessel, until a captain, sharper than the rest, stands punches all round, and having closed their eyes, they see clearly that his is the craft and no mistake. Having engaged passage, he sets about laying in his stores, lots of Tod, Segars, Tobacco, Spades, Hoes, Shovels, Pickaxes, Rifles, Pistols and Bowie Knives, Red Shirts and big Hats—not forgetting lots of beans and Blake's Bitters; when getting the last at Tom's he puts the party through.

therose is a trump and nothing shorter; he's rock, raal adamant almost, but

Me is one little soft spot. Mose like his betters, has a weakness, its an amiable one, no less than the one his grandfather Adam got in a scrape about with Mrs. Eve; in short, not to be too prosy, Mose's weakness is woman. "Gallus Lize" as the bhoys affectionately call her, is the pet of our hero; the parting with her on Pier No. 10 East River was melting as tallow in dog days; and the last smack he gave her was so tremendous, that it frightened a skittish horse so that he backed over the string piece into the river. He did.

Making BEASTS of themselves.

Professor Morse seems to have got Riley about his telegraphic rights. We fear that Judge Crank's late decision may prove a Bain to his hopes. Should he be ultimately successful, the House will prove too hot to hold his opponents.

The shores of the Hudson, it is said, have no equals. It may be so, but they certainly have a great many piers, at least in our vicinity.

The Ravel Family sacking the Royal Palace of Louis Phillipe.

It would be out of place to attempt to set down all that Mose hove up in that voyage. Mose vowed that he had trebled and quadrupled many a horn at home, that wasn't a circumstance to his doubling a Horn at sea.

Suffice to say, that after numerous misadventures by sea and land, he arrives at the modern Ophir. His usual good luck attends him. The first day he finds a solid lump of Gold weighing One Hundred Pounds, Ten Ounces, Fifteen Pennyweights and twenty Grains.

HINTS ON MATRIMONY.—Don't be surprised if, after you have sailed smoothly eight or ten months, on the voyage of matrimony, you are suddenly overtaken by squalls!

"The Goblet so bright, and the Lad so tight."

Mose was a bad economist, he never stooped to "count his beans" and sharing his stock with one sucker and another, he soon run ashore in the victualling department; as his provisions got scarce his appetite increased, and he was compelled to look around for fodder; when who should he come athwart, but Old Solomon Judas, the cursedest Jew that ever swindled in Chatham Street. Mose had bought red shirts, and forty inches round the bottom pants of the old Villian, who in return seeing Mose was an old friend, kindly gives him a pound of pork for a pound of gold.

"Do you keep matches here," asked a wag of a retailer. "Oh, yes, all kinds," was the reply. "Then I'll take a trotting match."

When a Baltimore girl is kissed, she says she is taking chloroform, and remains insensible as long as the operation lasts.

Mose and his Ship-load of mintdrops, arrive safe in New York port. The Common Council or as the rogues call them "uncommon scoundrels," vote him the Freedom of the City, and the use of the Governors Room; he is received into the bosom of his Uncle's family with the most disinterested affection; he forgives the old man in consideration of what the old woman did for him, make's them richer than ever old John Jacob Astor was. He and Lize gets slung, and he dosn't (a mistake)—and he does do something else, and finally dies a good old age, with lots of Goslings, Gold and Glory.

Lize as she appeared on board Mose's Golden Yatch off Castle Garden.

"When I goes shoppin'," said Mrs. Partington, "I allays asks for what I wants, and if they have it, and it's suitable, and I feel inclined to buy it, and it's cheap and can't be got at any other place for less, I most allays takes it without chapperin' about it all day long like some people does."

A wag was jogging home rather late and a little happy, when, passing by a dark alley, a large two-fisted fellow stepped out, and seizing him by the collar, demanded his money. "Money!" said the wag, "money! I have none—but if you wait a moment, I will give you my note at thirty days."

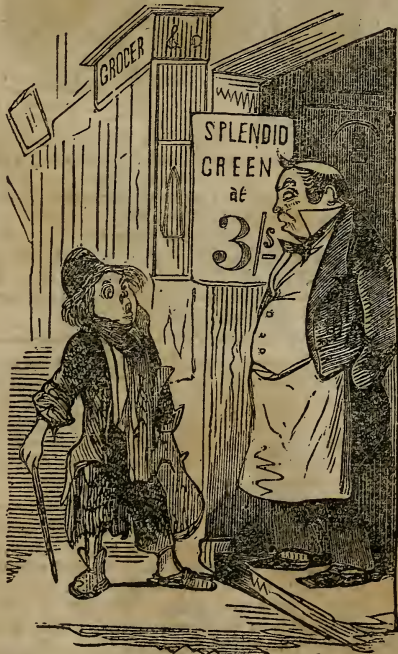

Och now!
good whiskey is it?
agrah! den by de power, I'll be after tapping the cask, by the jabbers. I'm thinking this is the bung! Och! mur-ther! murder but I've kilt a man; be aisy darlint, die wid
a clar conscience.

Pat will see every drop of the cratur drank!

"Look here, Pete," said a knowing dar-
key, "don't stand
dar on railroad!"
"Why Joe?" "Kase
if the cars see dat
mouf ob yours, dey
tink it am de depo',
and run rite in!"

A SCENE AT ST. LOUIS

"Please sir can you tell me if this is the way to California?"

"Californy! why is the boy crazy, Californy is two thousand miles off, Sonny."

"Oh! is that all, old fellow, I didn't ax you how fur it was, but if this ere's the way."

"Wall now, you beat
all natur sure enough,
this is the road, but how do you calculate
to live to get there?"

"That's easy enough
every body thats gone ahead, has got more than they can get along with, so you see I'll pick up what they throw away. It takes a yankee to go ahead in this world old fellow"
—exit.

Cats and pigeons, although they may have nothing of the India-rubber kind in their formation, are notoriously gutter-perchers.

Luck comes so strong he can't bluff it off no how, and in a short time he gets together so much of the O be joyful, that it fills his tent, chock up, and he is compelled to sleep out in the open air, with nothing but his boots to shelter him—he sleeps sound nevertheless.

THE extensive authority of parents, under the Chinese laws, is well known. A Chinese of forty years old, whose aged mother flogged him every day, shed tears in the company of one of his friends. "Why do you weep?" "Alas! things are not as they used to be—the poor woman's arm grows feebler every day."

"Never look a gift Horse in the mouth."

Old Comic Elton returning thanks to the Committee that called on him, nominating him for Governor of California. He thanks them with all his heart, but begs leave to decline the honor.

Up to this time, Mose has worked so hard and slept so sound that he has had no time for reflection, but now his gold had got beyond millions, and the Schoolmaster not being abroad in those diggens, he could'nt cypher out Billions and Trillions. So he knocked off for a days recreation, which said spree ended in his spelling out the name of his darling Lize in the Golden Sands, with a diamond period. He determined to return to New York, quicker, buy up the Astor House, have a glorious tuck out and astonish the Natives.

Calves' heads and ox tails are, in England, considered as delicacies; and, if our butchers would save them for sale, they would be certain never to lose money, as they would then make both ends meat.

The difference between the cholera and crevasse at New Orleans is, that one broke out, and the other broke in.

The newly hatched American Eagle getting the first glance of the Pacific Ocean from OUR possession in California.

The Demon of Speculation taking his Victims over the Rocky Mountains, to find gold in heaps and to die from starvation and to leave their bones to whiten on the golden sands of the Sacramento.

A shoemaker may be considered as entirely done up, who is compelled to pawn his boot-trees—for he has evidently come to his last legs.

A CHAGERASS JACKASS DEPOSITING A GOLD HUNTER IN A MORASS.

"My hies is this the Pacific"

NEHEMIAH'S OPINION OF THE GOLD FEVER.

WELL, I swow, now, did you ever?
Gracious! what on airth's tew pay?
All the folks are gittin' crazy,
Sure as shootin' up our way.
Dad from morn to night is dreamin'
All about this yaller gold,
Like a man that's lost his senses,
(Lord! the half 'haint yet been told.)

You may ask him any question,
On health, business, church or state,
Gold! gold! gold! will be his answer,
(Don't you ralely think its great?)
Granny sits and reads the papers
With eyes big as sarsers tew,
Swollering all the golden stories,
Just as though 'twas sartin true.

'Tother night she read about a
Man who's in the "diggings" seen,
Tradin' fifty thousand dollars,
For a plate of pork and beans!
Jehu! you'd a died a laughin',
Jist to seen her stare at ma,
Drop the paper she was holdin',
And exclaim aloud,—"oh la!"

Then there's Brother Ben goes strollin'
All about the farm so queer,
Raley you would think that somethin'
Orful had been hap'nin' here.
Round he goes a sayin', somethin'
To himself that can't be told,
Thinkin every stun he meets with,
Is a solid lump of gold!

Lord-a-massa, why will people
Act so pesky strange and queer,
'Cause they've found a little gold dust
'Tother eud of sundown near.
O, it seems too tarnal foolish,
For some folks to rave and tear
All about this Californy,
When they've gold at home to spare.
Gold in Californy's diggings?
'Spouse they have diskivered some,
Haint we got it all around us,
Without going away from hum?
Turn these medders into diggings,
Let the spade and pleow be seen,
Goin' it like all creation,
Through the pastures fresh and green.
Till the sile! Guy! that's the ticket,
Californy gold be darned,
Let 'em off for them ar diggings,
Who 'aint yet true wisdom larn'd.
Out into the fields of natun',
Where the trees wave 'ew and fro,
Where the little birds are singin,
All the pretty tunes they know.
Every hill of tatur's planted
Won't each prove a golden mine?
Every crop of wheat ye gather,
All the gold dust far outshine?
Are ye raley all so verdant,
That ye can't tell which is which?
'Aint there no place but them diggings,
Where a body can get rich?
O it is a blasted pity
Thus to throw one's self away,
And I sometimes feel like weepin'
When around the farm I stray.
Dad 'aint no ways the same feller,
That he used to be, I vow,
And our Ben, oh Sancho Panzy!
You would'nt know him any how.
Well, I 'spouse 'taint no use cryin'
Over spilt milk now-a-days,
Folks will do just as they choose tew
Never minding what one says.
They may run to Californy,
Crazy mortals, I don't kere,
But they don't ketch me agoin',
I can dig enough up here.

Californian Settlers colling on a newly arrived family.

THE CALIFORNIAN MONO-MANIAC.

DEAR sir, a wife in agony,
Would tell her tale of woe;
Would seek advice and sympathy,
If aught of help you know.

I had a husband of my heart,
Who seemeth now another;
My babes are orphaned, sir, in part—
They've but a grief-worn mother.

Till now his life did ever prove
The tender faithful friend;
The husband's duty, parent's love,
Did ever sweetly blend.

But here, a mute, abstracted waif,
He seems some troubled ghost,
Haunting the home of former life,
Seeking existence lost.

I often try some gentle word
To lure him back to me,
And, if at length my voice is heard,
His look is strange to see.

Perhaps I say, "Be careful, dear!
You're surely taking cold!"
His answer wildly meets my ear,
"No doubt about the gold!"

I place his infant in his arms,
And say, "Here is Jane Ann!"
He speaks, not noting her bright charms,
"She's bound for Darien!"

I say, "Do look to Sissy, dear!
She's crying for mamma;"
It shocks me when I gruffly hear,
"She'll stop at Panama!"

I say, "Will you not walk with me?"
Or ride, love, if you please;
And pray, where will we stop to tea?
He answers, "At Chagres!"

I say, "Your appetite is gone;
On what, dear, will you dine?"
He answers, with sepulchral tone,
"O, twenty carrots fine."

I say, with hopes that still beguile,
"My pastry will you test?"
He answers, with a ghastly smile,
"Sulphuric acid's best."

Once more I try, "Your mother kind
Has sent this welcome letter!"
He whispers, as if deaf and blind,
"A life insurance's better."

I say, "Your business needs some care,
Or it will run away, sir;
Where then, will be our home? oh, where?"
He answers, "On a placer."

I say, "Your head is out o' sorts;
Your memory's at a loss;"
Another of those grim retorts,
" 'Tis sixty miles across."

I've heard of money-maniacs—
I think he must be one;
But yet, O! how my poor heart aches!
What is there can be done?

AN AFFLICTED WIFE.

Well! here's another, bless my eyes! talk about the Cholera carrying folks off! Why it aint a circumstance to the California Gold Fever; they've got a Board of Health to report absentees by the Asiatic Cholera; it's my private opinion publickly expressed, that they ought to have a board of Creditors to prevent them running off crazy with that gold disease. It used to be G. T. T.—or gone to Texas when a man couldn't come his Taxes, but when that happened, it was an exception to the general rule; now, if you find a man at home he's the exception. I'd go off myself only I'm afraid. I hear tell that the folks out there are like the Dutch in old times: they agree to go by God's Laws until they had time to make better ones; in that case, the eye for eye and tooth for tooth argument wouldn't suit this child; I've been so hard a tax gatherer, that I'm afraid I should soon be gathered to my fathers, if some of these sloping gentry should catch me!

The girls at Cohasset make nothing of going into the water and bringing out a shark or mackerel by the nose. They dig clams with their toes, and open quahogs with a pinch of the fingers. They live chiefly on sea fare: so that, when kissed, they taste salt, and when they die, are preserved half a century. Their hair, in their old age, turns into dry sea-weed; and, if they have worn caps in their old age, the cap is stiff, and glittering with crystallizations of salt; and, if you fall in love with them in their youth, you find yourself in a pickle.

"Who is the strongest man?" "The man that can lift his notes every day without borrowing." "Smart boy—blow your nose with a bellows, and then tell me how much pickle Lot's wife would have made. School is dismissed to slide on the bannisters."

STREET DIALOGUE

J SMITH

SMITH.—I say, Jones, can't you give me Silver for an Eagle? I'm cursed short for small change.

JONES.—Not exactly! Mr. Sharp Smith, you can't come it over me, mi boy. You don't catch a weasel asleep this time of day my covey! I aint flat enough to give you full value of silver for gold now since Californy Gold Mines are found out. Vy, it won't be worth lead in a little while, it will be so plenty.

An old bachelor being ill, his sister presented him a cup of medicine. "What is it?" asked he. She answered, "It is elixir asthmatic; it is very aromatic, and will make you feel very extatic." "Nancy," he replied, with a smile, "you are very sistermatic!"

Why are Cashmere shawls like deaf people? Because you can't make them here.

THE BOWERY BULLY'S TRIP TO THE CALIFORNIAN GOLD MINES.

Mose as he now appears.

Mose as he used to appear

Let us prey! as the Fox said when he went to a protracted Poultry Meeting; and that is the feelings (though he don't exactly express his sentiments even as ambiguously as the Fox did,) of Mr. Wolf the stock-broker of Wall street, who ruminating upon the mania of Gold Hunting, comes to the conclusion that old tub of a ship that was pronounced unseaworthy on its last whaling voyage, might be coopered up a little to pass muster, and with the aid of a flaming advertisement in the daily papers, catch the eyes of one of thousands of Insane associations, composed of counter jumping, lazy mechanics, and used store keepers; what does he care if it proves their coffin, so that he receives double her value from them for passage. This is no ideal picture, but unfortunately too true for a joke; thousands have rushed to almost certain destruction, all reason and reflection are confounded in thought of Boundless Gold, crying aloud in the wilderness, come take me!

A Funny Bone.

ANECDOTE.—A darkey set to work to cut down a very tough tree, but his axe flew back, for some time, with but little effect. A storm occurred meantime, and a crashing shaft of lightning shattered a huge oak to splinters near him.

"Bress de Lord!" exclaimed Sambo, "dat well done. 'Pose you try dis one nex—guess you get your match, massa!"

The reason why many ladies dodge an offer of marriage, is because the question is popped at them.

FRIENDLY MEETING BETWEEN TWO CALIFORNIAN SETTLERS.

The old greeting of the highway robber of "your money or your life," is now changed in the Gold Diggins to "give me food or I'll blow out your brains;" and that gold for which the avarice of man has caused him to forsake home and kindred, all that renders life desirable, is left for yellow earth, and when got is utterly useless and valueless; the wretch that has toiled and starved to procure his heart's idol, and to get possession of, has sacrificed every thing in the world, has toiled in misery and beggary for the little gratification of dying rich.

I say, Wagtail, we gold fish are gainers by this gold-fever, now instead of confining us in glass globes because we look like gold, the plaguy fools have gone to a prison themselves to look like us.

AN INFERENCE.—A country editor, in speaking of a steamboat, says:—"She had twelve berths in her ladies' cabin."

"Oh, life of me!" exclaimed an old lady, upon reading the above, "what a squalling there must have been!"
